

KELLY

CO-FOUNDER

I have always been interested in the paranormal. I am a skeptic but have experienced enough to be a believer. A few years ago, I was able to start doing some investigations and I was hooked. I recently became a co-founder of Detroit Rock City Paranormal, in Michigan, with a group of friends and like-minded individuals working to investigate, gather paranormal evidence, and help those who ask. I have been fortunate enough to be involved in some great experiences and learn from some very talented people. I am always open to educating myself and learning all that I can. When I am not out doing investigations, I like to spend time with my husband and two beautiful daughters.